

F Assaf SC
3rd ed LexisNexis 2021
HB $235

ASSAF'S WINDING UP IN INSOLVENCY

Abstract from LexisNexis

Assaf's Winding Up in Insolvency is a practitioner-focused reference text providing comprehensive treatment of all aspects of winding up in insolvency. Formerly known as Statutory Demands and Winding Up in Insolvency, this new text has been completely rewritten, updated and expanded. The work discusses in detailed and scholarly fashion all requirements of winding up in insolvency including establishing insolvency, practical issues relating to issuing and setting aside statutory demands, making and opposing winding up applications and includes guidance on the recent labyrinthine amendments made to the Corporations Act by the Corporations Amendment (Corporate Insolvency Reforms) Act, 2020 and temporary amendments made in response to the Covid-19 pandemic. In addition, the book discusses cross-border aspects of winding-up in insolvency and the winding up of Part 5.7 bodies. Complete with precedents, this work is an essential reference text for all legal practitioners.

GE dal Pont
3rd ed LexisNexis 2021
PB $300.00

LAW OF CHARITY

Abstract from LexisNexis

Cited frequently in decisions in superior courts across Australia, including in the High Court of Australia, Law of Charity is a high-level work focusing on the law that governs and regulates the application of money or property for charitable purposes. Providing coverage of Australian law and, for chiefly comparative purposes, salient aspects of charity law in other common law jurisdictions ... this work is an exposition of the law pertaining to charitable objects, also encompassing the history of charity law, the privileges extended to charity and matters of jurisdiction vis-à-vis charity law. It concludes with a set of chapters dedicated to the reform of this area of law. Law of Charity is the ideal companion to Taxation of Charities and Not-for-profits, which is the essential resource for those who need to master non-profit tax issues or provide sound professional advice to the sector.

J Catanzariti & K Egan
2nd ed LexisNexis 2021
PB $14000

WORKPLACE BULLYING

Abstract from LexisNexis

With the addition of bullying provisions in the Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth), workplace bullying was finally acknowledged by the law. The Fair Work Commission was conferred a wide range of powers to deal with complaints about workplace bullying. Naturally, many employers took an interest in the legal ramifications of this burgeoning area of law. Aside from the legal risks, workplace bullying has the capacity to inflict great psychological harm upon its victims.

The second edition of Workplace Bullying explores, in greater depth, the psychological aspect of such bullying and its damaging effects. Workplace Bullying offers advice on how a toxic workplace environment can be prevented from forming. It provides a practical guide to victims of workplace bullying regarding how they can recover and build resilience, and an overview of new legal developments in this evolving area of law

J de Groot & B Nickel
6th ed LexisNexis 2021
PB $260.00

FAMILY PROVISION IN AUSTRALIA

Abstract from LexisNexis

Family Provision in Australia is a frequently cited text in various court judgments across all states and territories, including the High Court and Federal Court of Australia as well as the Court of Appeal-Civil Division and Chancery Division of England and Wales. It includes a comprehensive checklist, case tables, forms, precedents and extracts of relevant state and territory legislation.